Relief Finance Uncertainty Causes City Worry Millions Go To The Polls

Seeking Approval Of $200,000 More Of Its Programme

Uncompleted Arrangements for Financial End of Jobless Relief Await Return of Hon. J. W. Jones From Ottawa; City Committed for Large Expenditure and Want Government Consent for More; Situation Seen Serious as One Alderman Suggests Ceasing Work Until Agreement Signed

Reverberations of the uncertainty surrounding British Columbia's unemployment relief programme at Ottawa were heard at a meeting of the City Council as a committee of the whole this morning when recent correspondence regarding the city's position was read. Outcity's position was read.

standing facts revealed were:

1 — The City of Victobia has no signed agreement with either the Dominion or provincial government in regard to contributions for work undertaken, although it has a letter from the Minister of Public Works approving $300,000 worth of work, which is regarded as a virtual undertaking by the government;

2. The City has committed itself to Value of Improvements

2—The city has committed itself to $300,000 programme and is asking or approval of another $200,000; 3—No arrangements have been made for financing of the project and will not be made until Hon. J. W. Jones, Minister of, Finance, returns from 4—The city has not received the government's proportion for relief work done during the months of July, August and September, which had a total cost of about $120,000.

Strenouous protests were voiced to-day by the members of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau and Chamber of Commerce on a recent order of the Department of Customs calling for baggage of Seattle passengers calling here on their way to Vancouver to be examined here before they are permitted to step off the boot.

The new order of the Chief Inspector of Customs which went into effect last Thursday will rob abundreds of U.S. visitors of the opportunity to spend three-quarters of an hour in Victoria on their arrival from Seattle before proceeding to Vancouver. While it is claimed that customs officials expedite the examination of baggage as much as possible, it is pointed out the time at the disposal of the travelers is so limited that any delay would preven them making the short tour of the city and downtown stores. Past agers are required to stand by their baggage during the examination.

Another difficulty facing the city on its relief work is in respect to an order for waterworks valves placed with an English firm. Hon. W. A. RELIEF WORK HELD UP?

IT IS EXTREMELY UNFORTUNATE, IN fact in some aspects it is calamitous, if the proand municipalities under a definite arrangement made with Ottawa must be suspended because the Dommion government is unable to proceed with its part of the mment. With the terms of that arrangement of-elly communicated from Ottawa the public gen-y is familiar, and up to this time every plan of twork has been based upon them. In this provready have contracted certain liabilities on account of loyment work, on the official assurance Dominion would contribute fifty per cent of the cost, the federal government also to lend money for the provincial and municipal proportions.

The provincial programme provided for the extension of the P.G.E. to Prince George and work on the main highways of the province, particularly sections of the trans-Canada highway, and while nothing has ne in regard to the extension of the railroad, some 15,000 men have been put to work on the roads at an expenditure of $50,000 per day. The city also has assumed important liabilities under the impression that Ottawa would finance it in the form of a direct contribution and by loan.

The federal government's change of plan is said to be due to financial exigencies. It is a pity it could not have foreseen this situation a few months ago when it authorized the arrangement under which the provinces and municipalities have committed themselves to formidable obligations. This should have been foreseen not merely two or three months ago, but early this year, when at least a tentative programme should have been mapped out.

"I AM STILL RICH!"

AST MONTH'S ISSUE OF THE HUB, A AST MONTH'S ISSUE OF THE HUB, A journal published in the interests of Saskatchewan by the Young Men's Section of the Saskatoon Board of Trade, contains an article by Mr. Roy L. Smith which is recommended as an antidote for the economic recession through which the world is passing, and which appears to have been overlooked by economic experts. He begins by saying we have passed through a panic, suffered from a crash on the stock market, and are now more than half way through the depression—"and I am still rich!" It may be true, he says, that he has much less upon which to live than he had a year ago; but he contends it is live than he had a year ago; but he contends it is just as true that he has as much as ever to live for,

"The stock crash cost us," Mr. Smith proceeds "much that we never had—paper profits which never got nearer our pockets than the financial pages of the daily papers. The market failed, but nothing else did. Prices went down, but not one acre lost its fertility, and all the electrons and ether waves went on working in their accustomed ways." Consequently, when the business slump made itself felt, the writer of the article in question took an inventory of his possessions and found that all his capacity for the enjoyment of life remained intact. Possessed of two good eyes, he felt that every landscape and every sunset belonged to him; his sense of hearing was un sunset belonged to nim; his sense of hearing was unim-paired and by it he became "an heir to a world of beauty and inspiration." Then Mr. Smith reminded himself that no doctor had sentenced him to spinach for the rest of his life, that he was not compelled to take orders daily from his stomach. And so his philosophy proceeds:

The depression has not lowered the value of a single friendship. Neighbors still greet us in the same old cordial way, business associates believe in us, and our sons hold us in high respect. The wife's welcome at the close of the day has not depreciated.

My faith in the goodness of the universe is unnpaired. By that faith I am emboldened as I face defeat and despair. The prayers my mother taught me and the faith in God instilled in me by a devout father remain as priceless treasures no depression can touch.

No nation becomes great by becoming rich.

Neither does a man find enduring satisfaction in life by owning something—only by becoming something. The most degrading poverty is that which results from killing the spirit that the body may be served.

This depression has cost us some of the things we created, but it has robbed us of none of our power to create. We may lose some beautiful things, but we have lost no love of the beautiful.

Mr. Smith argues that the present material condition of the world is not a catastrophe but a challenge; for he thinks the experience of the last six months has assisted men and women to discover the real sustaining power of abiding values, courage, heroism, honor and charity. Hence, a financial debacle may wipe out profits and bring business nearly to a standstill, but character is beyond its reach. Furthermore, "the investments we have made in ambitious youth, hospitals, crippled children's camps, colleges, and service institutions go on paying dividends." It thus is clear above all else that the deepest satisfactions of life—those which come from sharing and serving—remain secure. The downcast should be able to extract some consolation from the riches of which none may rob them.

AN OLD STORY

WE ARE TOLD IN A CANADIAN Press cable from London that one reason why the various Dominions have a peculiar interest in the result of to-day's general election in Great Britain is that if the National Government is returned to power, there is every indication that it will seek to put into effect an inter-empire economic agreement widening the British preferences. Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain is quoted as saying that to enter into fresh negotiations and conversations with the Dominions successfully, "we must have the power to put duties on foreign imports in order to give the Dominions the preference," and to receive from them preference for

All this sounds well. As far as Canada is con-cerned, there would have been a much greater ex-change of commodities between Great Britain and this country if the Dunning budget had not been rejected by the Canadian people in the summer of last year. One of the first actions of the new government, more-over, was to increase the duties on a number of com-One of the first actions of the new government, moreover, was to increase the duties on a number of commodities Canada had been in the habit of importing from Great Britain. Mr. Bennett took this course, it will be recalled, before he left for the Imperial Conference, so that when he proposed that if Britain would impose a general ten per cent tariff on the foreign goods she was importing. Canada, while still keeping, her increased duties against British goods, would merely raise the duties against foreign goods by ten per cent. That is to say, while the duty on a British article would be twenty-five per cent, it would be twenty-seven and a half per cent on an article from the United States. Hence, the concession would be practically worthless.

There is another angle to inter-empire trade which often seems to be overlooked. But it is not overlooked by the British exporter. The argument that Britain will offer substantial concessions, say, to Canada, Australia, and New Zealand, with less than 20,000,000. consumers, and jeopardize her export business with all foreign countries, with their hundreds of millions of consumers, is almost certain to fall flat when it is introduced into the realm of practical politics.

Nor must it be forgotten that Canada now is a keen competitor of Britain in the manufacturing field. And how the present government at Ottawa regards Canadian industry is clearly reflected in its attitude Canadian industry is clearly reflected in its attitude toward British goods as a result of the depreciation of the pound sterling. How would the Canadian textile industry, for instance, regard lower duties on British woolen goods? The same question can be applied to other lines of industry.

WILL BRITAIN EXPERIMENT?

THE SUGGESTION THAT GREAT Britain under a National Government will experiment with the tariff for purely revenue purposes has produced an avalanche of letters to the Old Country newspapers. Free traders converted to a Country newspapers. Free traders converted to a moderate form of protection have given the proposal a half-hearted blessing. The out-and-out high tariff advocates have taken no pains to obscure their elation. Lloyd-Georgian Liberals have denounced it by every argument at their command. Many prominent economists point to the present condition of the world as largely due to the harmful effect of tariffs, not alone on the world's husiness but also on stremational alone on the world's business, but also on international harmony. All these schools of thought have had their fling in the newspapers in recent weeks. Here is the letter of a sceptic as it appeared in The Spectator:

So we are to have a tariff, "Everybody" says ao. It is not to be a tariff such as the benighted peoples of the world seek after. It is to be a genuine, all-British tariff feelinged knawyened, immaculate and acientific:

"A tariff never seen on land or sea,
An inspiration and a poet's dream."

It is to relieve our distressed Chancellor of the Exchequer by yielding a revenue on imports. It is to save our distressed industries by excluding imports.

It is to emancipate the farmer by raising the price of wheat, while the baker is to be forbidden to raise the price of bread. Our exports are to be stimulated. the price of bread. Our exports are to be stimulated our imports restricted, and our trade balance restored. spent in this way. The result is that a tremendous impetus has been given the lumber industry. The mills are employing more men not only in their manufacturing plants but in the forests as well and in the retail branches of the industry. Thus in one province at least the back to the land movement is producing benefits for many besides those who seek the security of a place where they can maintain themselves.

MR. HOOVER SEEING IT THROUGH The Ottawa Journal

With prosperity still on furlough, Mr. Hoover has come out with a gigantic proposition to put slaeker dollars to work, to buttress industry by freer and easier credits, to restore public confidence in the country's economic condition. His plan, approved by the great New York banking captains, involves the creation of a $500,000.000 corporation by private bankers to take up the frozen paper of insolvent banks and other institutions, and otherwise give elasticity to the credit situation. In other words, there will be more money available for industry, for agriculture, and for other national needs. Finally, Mr. Hoover is considering an extension of his moratorium upon the payment of international war debts.

While too much need not be expected from this plan—for the world's economic position is not so simple as to respond readily to any remedy—a large measure of good is bound to flow from it, and Canada, beyond question, will get a portion of the benefit. The history of past depressions has shown that Canada invariably reacts unfavorably to depressed conditions in the United States. Our present position, indeed, is due in no small measure to the collapse which has occurred across the line, this being particularly true of our difficulties in financing.

One of the first fruits of Mr. Hoover's action will be a restoration of confidence. The public, or a large section of it, has a strange faith in the capacity of governments to work wonders.

Presidential possibilities are not limited to politicians. Mr. Owen Young, suspected of being a Democrate but a man who has served his country under a Republican president, may well be nominated. Or the Democratic Party may go to one of the states and draft a man like Roosevelt of New York. True, they may end up by nominating a second-rater like Harding after two first-raters have deadlocked the convention, but at least they try to get the best man in the nation, and very often they are remarkably successful, as in such cases as Wilson, Roosevelt and Lincoln.

BACK TO THE LAND

The Saskatoon Phoenix-Star

A back to the land movement is a natural result of depression. Man can at least make a living there aithough he may not become wealthy, and it is the desire for that security which is the inspiration for the return to agriculture. At the present time throughout Canada thousands of men and their families are turning to the farm as a means of livelihood. Every province has seen the movement under way to a certain extent but it is in Quebec that it appears to have reached its peak. In that province the government is helping the unemployed to locate themselves on land and giving them aid to get started. Among other things the government is building houses for them and, according to reports from the Department of Agriculture of the government of that province, between $500,000 and $700,000 will be spent in this way. The result is that a tremendous impetus has been given the lumber industry. which I did not mention to them. After they had further looked around, one of them said to me. "Well, there is only one possible cause that could be, for refusing the permanent license, and that is some of these people living around must have been complaining or kicking." I said, "Well, now, we shall get what is wanted—a man like 'Lindy's opinion on it."

Well, I have heard it said once or twice, there was some complaint sent in against the field, but I never saw anything of it myself. There are always some objections to most everything, but in this case it was these stidents learning and practicing. They were no sooner up than down, all the time. It should have been restricted. The other planes coming and going were no nuisance whatever. However, the students have got a field of their own at Gordon Head now; so there should be no difficulty in that way. As "Lindy" says, the field needs to be as close in as possible. It may be some few acres shy of what is actually called for.

J. MULLARD,

To the Editor:—Hallowe'en will soon be with us again, and I see from the papers that the sale of firecrackers to minors is prohibited, but to judge from the nightly racket that has been going on for the last week, this does not seem to make any difference, as children of all ages seem to be well supplied with those noise producers. It looks as if these were many parents in Victoria foolish enough to buy those bombs and things for their children.

in Victoria foolish enough to buy those bombs and things for their children.

But there is a greater evil connected with the celebration of Hallowe'en than the firecracker one. I refer to the getting together of bands of young hoodlums who scour the city and district with the express purpose of doing as much malicious mischief and destruction of property as they can. It was perfectly acandalous the amount of damage that was done to the property of the citizens last year, hundreds of dollars' worth. Fences torn down. copings thrown down from stone walls, letter boxes blown to pieces. However pots from verandas. smashed etc.

Now, why is it that those brainless young fools are allowed to whink that they can do this sort of thing on that one night in the year and get away with it? The authorities are either unable to cope with the situation or it, they do not try to. If it were made public that anyone caught in the act of destroying property would be severely punished there might be less of it.

DOMINION THEATRE

Those two outstanding Orientals, Anna May Wong and Sessue Hayakawa, are very much worthwhile at the Dominion Theatre this week, where they are featured with Warner Oland, the original Fu Manchu, in a new episode of the fascinating Sax Rohmer series, filmed by Paramount as "Daughter of the Dragon."

For those who like romance seasoned with puzzles, thills and action evolved from lurking mystery, this production talks right out, and says big things to any movie audience.

COMING TO CAPITOL

A motion picture set furnished with Oriental "props" valued at $100,008 was used at University City for a number of scenes for "East of Borneo," the Far Eastern drama which comes to the Capital Theatre on Thursday with Rose Hobart and Charles Bickford in the leading roles.

The setting of the story is in the East Ingles, and the exterior scenes were actually photographed in Java. Sumatra and the Malay Straits. "Interiors" were filmed at the studio, and this particular setting, representing the interior of an old palace, found the studio property men gathering many rare old Oriental pieces.

Thep rize of the collection was a bronze Buddha standing nine feet in height, and valued at $25,000. Other smaller statues and statuettes were scattered about the wet, and Lai Chand Mehra, noted East Indian technical advisor, declared that the "White Buddha," a small marble statue used in the picture, was one of the finest pieces he had ever seen.

In addition to the statuary there was a great array of real Oriental furniture, the most valuable piece being a long ebony bench inlaid with mother-of-pearl. Bugs and draperies which were used also represented a small fortune, and sterling silver was used for table services.

A WAY has been found that experts say probably comes closer to solving the arm and leg hair problem for women than anything known before.

It resembles a beauty clay in appearance. You simply spread it on the surface where the hair is to be removed, let it remain a few moments and then rinse off with water. That is all. Every sign of hair is gone completely. Quite different from the razor and old ways. No coarsened regrowth; no stimple.

You can obtain it now at the letter of the name is NEET—Cream Hair Remover, Women are flocking to its use.

FIRST PIONEERS WILL ORGANIZE

Permanent Association of leterans to Be Formed on November 14

Veterans of the Pirst Canadian Picneses Battalion will establish a permanent organization on Saturday November 14, when a smoker reunion will be held. Decision to form a permanent association was made yesterday evening by a meeting at the clubrooms of Pro Patria branch of the Canadian Legion, which was attended by about twenty members of the battalion, the gathering, being the first held since demobilization. W. C. Winkel was in the chair and Albert Head acted as secretary.

It was stated that there are now about 125 ex-members of the Pirst Pioneers resident in Greater Victoria and the opinion was expressed that a useful and active organization could be formed.

The Pirst Canadian Pioneers was the useful and active organization could be formed.

The First Canadian Pioneers was the first unit of the type organized in Western Canada for service in France and was commanded by Col. A. E. Hodgins. From the time of the arrival of the battalion in France until the Armistice it was associated with the first division and participated in the major operations of that unit of the Canadian corps.

The meeting yesterday evening passed a vote of condolence with the family of the late Major Peter Campbell of Esquimait, who was a former member of the unit.

OPEN WEATHER ON PRAIRIES AIDS BULK APPLE SALE

the prairies is being increased by the cheapness of the product.

In Edmonton alone, the department reports, 100 cars of bulk apples have been repacked and sold.

The volume of Delicious apples moved in bulk is negligible. Varieties chiefly going to make up the bulk shipments include McIntosh, Wagner, Jonathan and Kings.

The open weather has greatly enhanced the bulk movement on the prairies. Twenty cars of produce have arrived in Winnipeg from Eritish Columbia. They consist of eleven cars of boxed apples, eight of bulk apples and one of mixed fruit. Ontario bulk apples, are selling at 24 cents a pound in Winnipeg, with B.C. bulk McIntosh and Jonathans selling at 24 cents a pound.

Several Roads Need Improvement OUR BOARDING HOUSE.

Improvement of several streets not included in the city unemployment included in the city unemployment relief programme is suggested by the directors of the local branch of the Automobile Club to the City Council. The club draws attention to the deplorable condition of Cook Street, scuth of Fort, and Oak Bay Avenue is described as disgraceful in parts. Development of Pandora Avenue, it is stated, would divert considerable traffic from the Dardanelles.

Work on these thoroughfares could be done instead of boulevarding streets on which there are few residents, it is suggested.

Port Alberni

Port Alberni, Oct. 27—Ed Lee re-turned to Uclulet on the Ss. Princess Maquinna on Friday after a visit to Victoria. Accompanying him was his sister-in-law, Mrs. Madden, who is going to stay with Mr. and Mrs. Lee.

Miss Cassidy came in from Cape Beale on the Maquinna and will be staying here for a week or so. Frank Brain made a flying trip into town from Bantield. Andy Mitchell, Harry Todd and Rob Smith are at Anderson Lake Hatchery, and will be there for some weeks. Mrs. M. Nichols left for her home in Ecoole after visiting in the Port for a week.

New York, Oct. 27.—The New York Post publishes the following special dispatch from Washington:
"Foreign capital issues are being more closely scrutinized by United States bankers this year than ever before, according to official comment to-day on statistics showing that public offerings of such scurities were lower in the first nine months and in the tirst nine months of the year $295.943,500.

"The situation obviously reflects in part the uncertainty that prevails, but the fact that sound Canadian securities have been absorbed shows that sife suff will be bought by the holders of investment funds here. The bankers know that investors are careful and they are looking over the offerings accordingly."

condition of affairs on Japan and her agents in the territory.

The self-appointed governor of Manchuria actnowledged no allegiance to the Nanking Government and was considered a potential enemy in all the recent upheavals which simed at the overhrow of that government. What was the nature of the secret treaty entered into by him at Nanking, which so suddenly brought him to surrender himself completely to the rule and authority of the central government? Does Japan know the nature of that understanding, and has the present development in Manchuria any relation to that secret agreement?

It seems to me the first act of the League of Nations should have been to investigate and set right what is claimed to be the immediate cause of the crisis. To insist that Japan retire her forces from Manchuria by November 16 will at once raise prejudice in the minds of the native population and place Japan at serious future disadvantage, unless the League of Nations undertakes to have a neutral defence force operating the territory by that date.

We have in China and Japan a body of men whose life-work has been diplomatic service to their respective nations. May I suggest that instead of the League of Nations trying to harmonize all the intrigue of these Asiation in China be set up in Manchuria, and that a police force under their conirol be ready to take over the defence of the country when the Japanese forces retire.

In dealing with Asiatic peoples, the blunt policy of declaring one party to be in the wrong should be studiously avoided and in the final settlement the save-face attitude should be carefully extended to both parties to ensure harmonious peace.

As a friend of China I would hope that soon all armiles shall be disbanded, that a mational police force under one head shall be organized, and that rober bands, brigands and the lawless oppressors of the people shall melt away in the happer condition of a well-governed and prosperous country But such a sondition can never come by make-believe, biuffine and denying facts serving the award at the club's luncheon in the Empress Motel.

Before making the presentation, Dr. S. J. Willis, Superintendent of Education, told of the club's affilliation with Victoria College in its early days.

Before the institution of the latter a junior college had been founded here in affilliation with McGill. That ceased to exist in 1915, he said.

Interest in a junior college here was reborn about 1920, when the Victoria College was founded largely through the work of Dr. E. B. Paul, the first principal. Although many had expressed misgivings over it, their doubts in had been found to have no basis as the institution grew from an enrolliment of seventy-two to 280 in the last ten years.

Since its inception the value of the College and the calibre of students passing through it into the University of British Columbia had been highly commended, Dr. Willis said.

The Kiwanis Club had decided to give an award to the Victoria College student found most worthy, when the club had drawn up its objectives ten years ago.

Charles Comiskey Boasted Checkered Career in Baseball World

Only Ball Player to Rise From anks to Ownership of Major Club

Suspension of $1,000,000 light in His Career

Pepper Martin May Join Babe Ruth Class Before Many Moons

TROM a plumber's apprentice to one of the wealthiest and most famous men in the baseball world best describes the career of Charles Albert Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox, American League baseball team, who died yesterday at an advanced age, Universally known as the "Old Roman," he was the only ballplayer who rose from the ranks to sole ownership of a major league club, including both players and grounds. After having built up the White Sox, from the beginning of the American League, into an organization known the world over, Comiskey caused a sensation when, in 1920, he wrecked his machine on finding that the 1919 world series had been "thrown" to the Cincinnati Club.

Af that time he suspended seven of his star players, "Happy" Felsch, Joe Jackson, Eddle Cicotte, "Lefty" Williams, "Swede" Risberg, Fred McMullen and "Buck" Weaver, whose aggregate contracts were valued at more than $1,000,000. This huge sum was lost wises-Comiskey, together with other highlights in organized baseball, including Kenesaw, M. Landis, baseball commissioner, decided that the suspended men, despite a verdiet of "not guilty" returned by a Cook county jury, were to remain on the ineligible list.

In an effort to reconstruct his shattered team acouts were sent to all parts of the country to gather promising minor league players. From the exception of the second haseman. These men, Ernie Johnson, Eddie Mulliagan and Earl Sheely, fitted in well with Eddie Collins, who had remained loyal to Comiskey. In 1922 Willie Kamm, a third baseman, was obtained from a San Francisco club for $100,000, the highest price ever paid for a minor league player up to that time.

In 1876 Comiskey, at the age of seventeen, Joined the Milwaukee base ball club as a third baseman. His salary was $60 a month. From Milwaukee he went to Elgin, Ill., as pitcher, remaining one year and winning every game. In 1879 he joined Dubuque, of the Northwestern League where he played for four years. In 1881 he again changed locations, Joining the St. Louis Browns of the American Association, and in 1883 was miads manager. The Browns won the league pennant in 1885-86-87-88, and took part in the world series of those years, winning one, losing two and tying the fourth.

Comiskey remained with the Browns until 1890, when he took charge of the Players' League club in Chicago. He returned to St. Louis in 1891, and in 1892 went to Cincinnat, where he managed the Reds until 1895. chief factors is the expansion of the old Western League into the present American League. Comiskey placed bis White Sox in Chicago, then exclusive National League territory, and in 1900 and 1901 won the American League penmants. Under the direction of Comiskey the White Sox enjoyed great popularity. The team often was a leading of mender in the league race and in 1906 won beth the league and the world title. The Sox won the pennant again in 1917 and defeated the New York Gians in the world series. In 1910 Comiskey built a mammath concrete stadium for the White Sox.

Al BROWN TO

In the winter of 1913-14, Comiskey and John McGraw of the New York Giarts financed a round-the-world tour with a large number of ball players divided into two teams. The teams played in Australia and Japan, where the game had taken a held on the populace. In London, King George was an interested spectator. In Egypt the teams played before the Sphinx.

Judge Landis told Pepper Martin he would like nothing better than to trade places with him. And Pepper eaid he would be happy to trade his $4,506 a year for the commissioner's $80,000-in fact it is $65. But perhaps Pepper will not be in any need of trading if the judge takes him up and offers to exchange jobs. Sabe Buth has been pulling down $80,000- A sprightly youngster like Pepper, with a suddenly developed reputation that has given him more newspaper space during one week than any other hallplayer ever had, may be in the Babe Ruth class himself before long, and he can have all the fun of going on playing base-ball.

Robbins, Tyson and Miracles of Sport SPORTS Stewart Expected MIRROR To Form Local Team

Three Well-known Youngsters Enter Marathon Race to Start in Seattle October 31; Lew Rush Is Another Eligible for Team; Contest Will Take Form of 114 Day Elimination With Six-day Race Ending Programme; Will Be for Amateur Riders Only; Vancouver to Enter Team

Three well-known Victoria amateur bicycle riders, Pete Tyson, Glen Robbins and Don Stewart, are planning to participate in one of the toughest races ever held for the knights of the wheel. According to word received here Seattle promoters will put on an endurance contest lasting for 120 days, commencing on October 31.

The event will draw competitors from all parts of the Pacific Coast and will be one of the biggest competitions of its kind ever held on this continent. It is planned to stage the race at Seattle's Stewart and Lew Rush left for Seat-tle yesterday to interview the pro-moters and are expected back to-day or to-morrow with the definite rules and regulations governing the event. The riders will compete in teams of three, and it is quite possible that Rush may also make the trip, although Tyson. Robbins and Stewart have de-cided to enter the event. ON INDOGE TEACK

Just in what shifts the riders will work is not known, but with three men to a team it is expected the event will be continuous riding.

Vancouver will also have a team entered in the competition.

With Tyson, Robbins, Stewart and Rush as eligibles Victoria will be represented by four of the finest riders in the Pacific Northwest. All are strong young huskles and have taken an active part in bleyele riding in British Columbia for the last three of fcur years. They hold many cups and trophies, and have taken part in many long distance races. Rush and Robbins besides being long distance riders are first-class sprinters. The former has been specializing in the long rides in recent months, and was the winner of the Pacific Coast championship for a ride between Seattle and Vancouver.

ARE YOUNGSTERS

All four are youngsters, but they are all in first class condition and quite able to stand the strain necessary for a contest of this nature.

Comiskey Park in Chicago Together With Chicago White Sox Franchise and Players Valued Around $4,000,000; Body of Baseball's "Old Roman" Who Died Yesterday Arrives in Windy City to Lie in State Until Funeral on Thursday; Leading Baseball Figures Pay Tribute

Chicago, Oct. 27—The body of Charles Comiskey, baseball's "old Roman," came back to Chicago to-day to lie in state until funeral services are held Thursday morning.

The body of the owner of the Chicago White Sox, who died at his summer home at Eagle River, Wis., early yesterday, started yesterday evening on a thirty-mile automobile journey to Rhinelander, Wis., where it was transferred to a train scheduled to arrive at 8.45 this morning.

arrive at 8.45 this morning.

Services will be held Thursday morning at 11 o'clock at St. Thomas the Apostle Roman Catholic Church, and burial will be in Calvary. The body was accompanied by the old Roman's only son, J. Louis Comiskey, and Harry Grabiner, secretary of the White Sox and Comiskey's closest contidant.

Comiskey's closest contidant.

Comiskey's last illness came upon him while he still was trying to build a club to replace his American League champions of 1919, which he weeked after the scandal which followed the world series that year.

Expressions of deep sorrow came from leading baseball figures of the nation to-day.

"If ever a man fought to preserve the good name and the honor of our game, it was 'Commy,'" wired John A. Heydler, president of the National League, willism Harridge, president of the American League, said the league owed Comiskey a debt of everlasting gratiude, adding "he fought shoulder to shoulder with Ban Johnson for clean baseball."

LEAVES FAST HOLDINGS

Just what will happen to the vast baseball property which Comiskey left behind, remained uncertain to-day. The Comiskey Fark, home of the White Sox, with a seating capacity of $2,000, is one of the monuments to the sport he left. The park, together with the franchise and club, has been variously estimated to be worth from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000.

and club, has been variously estimated to be worth from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000. His son, forty-six years old, has been connected with the club for the last twenty years in various capacities. The business management, however, has been in the hands of Harry Grabiner, who holds the title of secretary, but who has been in active charge for the last five or six years. Grabiner, who grew up with the club from a job as office boy for Comiskey, always consulted the "Big Boss" before making any business moves.

It was shortly after the world's series scandal in 1919 when the White Sox threw the world's champlionship to the Cincinnatt Reds to satisfy bribing gamblers, that Comiskey, shattered in spirit and health, began to fade from baseball, leaving Grabiner in charge. He spent most of his time at his summer retreat in Wisconsin. His wife died in 1922 after an illness of months.

The Garrison are at present leading the midweek loop with two straight victories, while the Bays and Navy are tied for second place with Saanich United bringing up the rear. Saanich will trot out a completely revamped line-up to pit against the sailors. Last week Saanich went to pleces in their match with the Garrison, suffering a crushing 10 to defeat. To date the United have not won a match but they hope to gair two points at the expense of the Navy last year's champions. The Navy are just as determined to score a victory and remain on the heels of the pace-setting Garrison.

At Beacon Hill two well-balances elevens will fight it out for the honors. The Garrison have visions or going through the league schedule without a defeat chalked against them while the Bays are anxious to breat the Tommies string of wins at two The Hudson's Bay team will be a follows: Shrimpton, McKenzie, Men zies, Cull, Woodley, Oakman, Taylor Pish, Armstrong, Small and Newell. CITY WORKOUT

Victoria City senior football squa-vill hold a workout this evening at th Veterans of France at 7.30 o'clock. Al players are requested to be present.

Frank Patrick Confident Means of Installing System Will Be Arranged

Canadian Press Calgary, Alta., Oct. 27.—Ice and operating costs were the stumbling blocks which stood to-day in the way of Calgary's entry into profes-sional hockey this winter. Frank Patrick, president of the Pacific Patrick, president of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, awaited the verdict of Calgary hockey promoters who were debating the feasibility of installing an artificial toe plant in the local arena and whether their finances were sufficient to launch the foothill city into a league with Edmonton, Vancouver, Tacoma and Portland. Patrick to-day was still hopeful that the Calgarians would find some means of accepting his invitation to enter a pro-aggregation in his organization. He suggested to Rosie Helmer and George Steward, operators of the local arena and the men who would support any team if entered, a cold air piping plan that would assure ice for all games and overcome the chinock breezes that upset hockey, schedules here every season.

EXHIBITION BODY OPPOSES PLAN

EXHIBITION BODY OPPOSES PLAN Exhibition Association, owners of the arena, did not favor installation of an artificial plant because it would interfere with horse and cattle shows held in the building during the winter. If the cold-air-piping plan was refused, Patrick believed some way would be found to install the artificial plant. Now that Duke Keats of Edmonton has promised a team from the northern city, Calgary would eventually organize a team. Patrick hopes, "Having a team play two games at each point during one trip would overtoome the expense problem." Patrick believed. Nothing, however, will be known until late this afternoon or tonight. There is no information now as the local promoters are still discussing the question.

Regina, Sask, Oct. 27.—It was announced at a meeting here yesterday evening of the Victoria Senior Amateur Hockey Club that Dick Irvin. coach of the Chicago Black Hawks in the National League last winter, would handle the team during the coming season. Irvin succeeds a former team mate on the old Regina Capitals, "Puss" Traub, who piloted the Vics to the senior championship of the province last winter. Traub is now in Windsor, Ontario, and is billed to referee in the American League during the coming winter.

Since being let out by the Hawks. Irvin has been interested in the purchase of a Pacific Coast League team along with Wes Champ, but negotiations fell through early last week and the former Hawk mentor is likely to spend the winter in Regina.

New York, Oct. 27.—The stock market slipped off in the list half hour to-day, and closed with numerous losses of 1 to 5 points, after a brisk rally in mid-afternoon had cancelled much of a morning loss. The closing tone was heavy. Sales were shout a million and a half shares.

Omission of Illinois Central's dividend announcement after the close were contributing factors in a general sag during most of the session. The market managed to rally substantially for a time, however, in sympathy with a brisk upturn in wheat Closing prices were in many cases a point of ao above the lowest.

Illinois Central dropped 5 points to a new low under 20, then recovered 2 points of its loss. Union Pacific lost about 4. Miscellaneous issues closing about 2 to 3, New York Central, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Allied Chemical and Eastman, issues off a point or more, included U.S. Steel, General Electric, American, Union Carbide and Pennsylvanis.

Toronto, Oct. 27.—Toronto Stock Exchange market firmed in the last half hour to-day and stocks advanced a small fraction above their lows reached at the beginning of the last hour. Previous to the late turn, the market had been soft, easing slowly from the opening. Majority of issues were unchanged to slightly higher.

Brazilian Traction rose to 13 toward the close, nearly a point above the final of Monday.

Nickel recovered a small loss and Noranda closed up over most of the distance it had retraced. Ford of Canada substituted a fractional gain for the half-point loss at mid-day, and the oil stocks, with the exception of International Petroleum, were firm and slightly higher.

Dominion Stores, which had dropped more than a point, picked up half its loss to close just above 18. Loblaw was unchanged.

VICTORIA OFFICE-1124 GOVERNMENT ST.

New York, Oct. 27.—Since my return to New York from the west I have been exchanging ideas with numerous men whose opinions I value, men in close touch with both domestic and foreign conditions, and I am pleased to say that the majority incline to the or with the corner has been turned in so far as business is concerned," and Ben Bryan, the well-known broker, to-day. "Progress may be slow and the improvement not distinctly gestribable for a while, but the encouraging thing is that after months thantial interests are now looking forward with hope and confidence to 1932. As far as the stock market is concerned there has been a treffendous absorption of spocks by the interior, especially in the nature of odd lots, which is beginning to be reflected in a substantial reduction in the floating supply. The market may back and fill for a while, but I firmly believe that the down turns will provide good opportunities in corporations whose financial structures are known to be sound, even though the current earnings are not satisfactory.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—Which in your opinion is more apt to make a faithful and domestic husband, the young man who has had a wild youth, who has been to all sorts of piaces with all sorts of people and has come out of it all to be a steady, intelligent young man, or the young man who has never been anywhere, who has not even attended dances or card parties and who is perfectly satisfied with a movie.

IN DOUBT.

Answer—The French have a proverb that says that the reformed roue makes the best husband, meaning thereby that the man who has had his fling before marriage and has tired of it all, is ready to settle down to the demestic life.

Indisputably there is a grain of truth in this. If a man is going to sow his wild oats, it is certainly much better for him to do so before he is married than afterward, but the trouble with the wild oats crop is that it so often bears a perennial harvest that keeps ripening year after year as long as he lives, and his poor wife and children are compelled to assist in reaping. Bickness, disease, death, imbedlity, malformations, are some of the noxious weeds that spring up among the wild oats, and no woman wants to glean any of these.

Jeft-

If a man could pay the price of his wild parties himself and when the score was settled wipe off the slate, then he would make an ideal husband, for undoubtedly nothing kills our appetites so completely for forbidden fruit as to have had our fill of it and be satiated with it. No man is so abstemious as the one who has burned his stomach out with synthetic gin. No man is so immune to the coquetries of women as the one who knows every art and wile of the vamp. No man steks as close to his own freside as the one who has run around until the very sight and sound of a night club bores him to tears.

But there are two objections to marrying such a man. One is that he is very apt to be damaged goods and his wife is more than likely to spend her life nursing a neurotic invalid and trying to repair the harm that bootleg whisky has done to his digestion and his liver and his kidneys. And always in her consciousness is the black shadow of the evil women he has known and the mercenary lips he has kissed.

And in the second place, the man who does not marry until he is tired of galety and stepping out, makes a dull and uncompanionable husband who is never willing to do anything for his wife's amusement. He is blase. He has seen the whole show and has wearled of the spectacle, and he expects his wife to take his word for it that it is not worth seeing, and there is nothing to it.

He does not care that she is young and that it is all new and glittering and glamorous to her eyes. It bores him to even think of dressing up and going to a dance and he is not going to go, no matter how she longs to put on her pretty frock and tread a measure out where there are bright lights and galety and laughter. His idea of a pleasant evening is to sit at home and read a book and he sees to it that she sits with him and is not exposed to the dangers of the world whose every thrilling adventure he has passed through.

On the other hand, it is equally true that the man who has missed the pleasures of youth is mighty apt to take them later on when they are far more dangerous and disastrous in their effect, for it seems to be the law of life that we must all have our playtime, sooner or later. It has been my observation that most of the men who gun amuck when they are middleaged and who forsake their faithful old wives for girls young enough to be their daughters and let gold-digging blondes make fools of them are almost invariably men who married very young, when they were mere boys and who never had time or money to amuse themselves until they were middle-aged.

If you will dig into the histories of these men you will nearly always find that at the time when other youngsters of their own age were going to parties and dancing their feet off and flirting around with girls and having a good time that they had already burdened themselves with a family or were working their heads off to get ahead in whatever line of business they had chosen and that they had neither leisure nor money for any sort of pleasure.

For years and years it was all work and no play, and they were so absorbed in the struggle for success that they never thought of amusing themselves, then, suddenly, they found themselves with plenty of money and where they could take things easily, and the play instinct that had been suppressed so long, asserted itself, and they went mad and lost all sense of proportion and went the limit. And the folly of a middle-uged man is far more costly than that of a boy.

So, in choosing a husband pick out one who has been neither too gay nor too sober. One who knows something of life, but not one who has sucked his orange dry.

DEAR MISS DIX—Does every woman before she marries feel doubtful and fear the future? I had always thought when my fairy prince came along I would rush madly into his arms, but although I love the young man I am engaged to, and he is fine in every way and we are congenial, still I sometimes wonder if I should marry him. There is no doubt that I love him, but so many marriages end in divorce and broken hearts that I cannot keep from being apprehensive.

PERPLEXED.

Answer—That is natural. Probably every bride and groom stumbled to the altar on frozen feet and would back out at the last moment if they could. It is the instinct of self-preservation that makes us hesitate at taking any fatal step that changes our whole lives.

Only the foolhardy rush blindly into marriage. It gives the intelligent pause, for well they know the dangers and the difficulties they are about to encounter and how uncertain are the chances that they are to meet.

But you have to take risks in everything, my dear. Life offers us no sure things. No certainties. If you go into any business, you run the risk of failure. Any friend may fall you, Any circumstance may have more of misery than of good in it.

And because others have failed in marriage is no indication that you will.

Recause other men have turned out to be bad husbands is no indication that the man you marry will. Because other weddings end in divorce is no indication that you will hang the "To Let" sign on your house of happiness.

Washington, Oct. 27.—Turning its attention 50 an ocean quarrel yesterday, the Supreme Court told the United States Navigation Company Inc. It would look into the concern's claim that other lines were "rying to drive its ships off the seas."

The Navigation Company, which operates between New York and London and Liverpool, said the Cunard Steamship Company Limited and Commerce.

The medium, the complaining company said, was an agreement to offer shippers who would not make the agreement.

The Navigation Company said the methods of its rivals violated the Sherman acts and that the thirteen lines already had 95 per cent of the general cargo trade from American North Atlantic ports to ports in Great Britain and Ireland.

A district court in New York City dismissed the complaint in December, 1929.

Ss. Cape of Good Hope, Mayor Dances Known Here, at Quebec With Josette; Liner Waits

Quebec. Oct. 27—The first vessel to dock at Quebec from South Africa for many years arrived here yesterday, with a cargo of 7.349 tons of maize on board.

It was the motorship Cape of Good Hope, owned by the Cape of Good Hope Motorship Company Limited, which sailed from Durban on September 15.

It was thought that the vessel would proceed to Montreal to unload her cargo, but her agents have decided that she shall discharge here, and then proceed to Hampton Roads to take on a coal cargo.

Five Chinese are among the crew of the ship, and her agents were obliged to deposit a bond of $1,000 for each of them while the ship is in port, this being in conformity with rules and regulations of Canada.

A stop was made at Dakar, French West Africa, for the purpose of taking on maize, it was reported on the vessel's arrival here.

The Cape of Good Hope is a well-known freighter, having been at this port many times. She operates in tramp service to many ports of the world.

Exiled Chinese From Mexico To Sail From Here

Another group of Chinese, exiled from their Mexican homes, and returning to China, will be here this week. The "sembers of this group will arrive here Thursday night or Priday morning from San Francisco aboard the "ser Ruth Alexander. They will proceed to Seattle, however, but will return here Saturday afternoon, outbound to China, aboard the American Mail lines President Jefferson.

The Orientals reached San Francisco from M ico yesterday aboard the liner Guatemals and to-day boarded the Ruth Alexander, which salled from San Francisco this afternoon at 5 o'clock for Victoria and Seattle.

New York, Oct. 27—A queen of the sea waited five and a half hours to-day while the daughter of the Premier of France danced with a mayor at a birthday party. The French liner IIe de France was to have salled at five minutes past midnight with Premier Laval and his daughter, Josette, aboard. At the hour, however, the orchestra in a fashionable night club was playing "Cupid on the Birthday Cake" and Mademoiselle Laval was dancing with Mayor James J. Walker. Monaleur Laval was watching with an expansive smile, and a group of socially important persons beamed their approval. The liner waited. Finally, at 1.15 a.m., when Mayor Walker's car rolled up with Josette, the premier close behind, the captain decided to postpone salling until the more advantageous tide rolled out at 5.30 a.m.

The premier departed feeling France and the United States-since his conversations with President Hoover—understand each, other better and know what to expect. His last day was filled with receptions and sightseeing, including a dinner of the French Chamber of Commerce. At least 2,000 persons were present.

Yoshizawa And Briand To Negotiate

Paris, Oct. 27.—In responsible Jap-anese quarters it was said to-day negotiations looking toward a settle-ment of the Sino-Japanese conflict in Manchuria would be carried on here between Kenkichi Yoshizawa, Japan-ese ambasador, and Aristide Briand, French Foreign Minister, prior to the League of Nations Council meeting No-vember 16.

CENTENARIANS MARK BALLOTS IN BRITAIN

London, Oct. 27.—As polling in the general election proceeded to-day reports came of interesting scenes at various points.

Three centenarians at Folkstone were among the earliest voters, as well as two centenarians in London. "I am going to save the country," said Mrs. Nesbitt, aged 103, as she left for the Hampistead poil. Mrs. Marriott, aged 101, drove to the Thornton Heath poil, chasting casually of the corn laws. "People don't understand to-day what is means to see people starving," she said. "It is a nasty sight." She thought the modern girl was a "forward hussy." In Southfields a woman of eighty-six years took her first motorcar ride in the politing booth.

Ashton-Under-Lyne Returns Col. J. Broadbent; Results in Other Divisions

Earliest Return in British Election Came From Hornsey, Middlesex

London, Oct. 27 — "As Lancashire goes, so does the country," has been a political axiom for many years. The first Lancashire riding to report, Ashton-under-Lyne, returned Col. J. Broadbent. Conservative in a four-cornered contest. He acored 13.-632 votes against 11.074 for J. W. Gordon, Labor, 2.696 for J. T. Middleton, Lloyd George Liberal, and 424 for Charles Hoblyouse, running as a member of Sir Oswid-Mosley's New Party.

By GEORGE HAMBLETON, Canadian Press Staff Writer London, Oct. 28-After Big Ben had tolled midnight the Labor Party heads were surveying a stricken field. Return after return from yesterday's general only added to the total of Labor's disaster. Seven of the ministers of the Labor Cabinet that had fallen on August 24 were beaten in their constituencies in yesterday's general election.

Heaviest blow to the Labor Party was the defeat in Burnley of Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, its leader. Defeated, too, were Rt. Hon. J. R. Clynes, Rt. Hon. A. V. Alexander, Rt. Hon. Herbert Morrison, Rt. Hon. Tom Shaw, Rt. Hon. Margaret Bondfield and Hon. Arthur Greenwood, powers in Labor's "shadow cabinet."

Against these were set the re-election by decisive majorities of Rt. Hon. Sir Samuel Hoare, member of the National Cabinet, and Rt. Hon. Sir Herbert Samuel, leader of the Liberals in the National Government.

Polls Closed When Many English Electors Arrive on Delayed Trains

London. Oct. 27—Many voters working in the City of London lost their votes because of the fog. Intending to cast their ballots after their day's work, they found that trains were delayed and when they got home the polls were closed. Trains were running as late as an hour and a half.

Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, was about to be photographed when the first result—a Conservative victory—reached him. He broke into an uncoaxed smile for the photographer. Mr. Baldwin was especially pleased by the results in Salford.

Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, Liberal

At 1 o'clock, with 93 returns added to the 68 elections previously recorded, the National Government had a potential majority of 135. At that time returns from 161 out of 615 seats gave the following party line-up: National Conservatives, 127, National Labor, 0.

RELIEF WORK HELD UP?

T IS EXTREMELY UNFORTUNATE, IN fact in some aspects it is calamitous, if the programme of public works authorized by the provinces and municipalities under a definite arrangement made with Ottawa must be suspended because the Dominion government is unable to proceed with its part of the government is unable to proceed with its part of the agreement. With the terms of that arrangement officially communicated from Ottawa the public generally is familiar, and up to this time every plan of relief work has been based upon them. In this province both the provincial and municipal authorities already have contracted certain liabilities on account of employment work, on the official assurance that the Dominion would contribute fifty per cent of the cost, the federal government also to lend money for the provincial and municipal proportions.

The provincial programme provided for the extension of the P.G.E. to Prince George and work on the main highways of the province, particularly sections of the trans-Canada highway, and while nothing has been done in regard to the extension of the railroad, some 15,000 men have been put to work on the roads at an expenditure of $50,000 per day. The city also has assumed important liabilities under the impression that Ottawa would finance it in the form of a direct contribution and by loan.

The federal government's change of plan is said to be due to financial exigencies. It is a pity it could not have foreseen this situation a few months ago when it authorized the arrangement under which the when it authorized the arrangement and provinces and municipalities have committed themprovinces and municipalities. This should have selves to formidable obligations. This should have been foreseen not merely two or three months ago, but early this year, when at least a tentative programme should have been mapped out.

"I AM STILL RICH!"

AST MONTH'S ISSUE OF THE HUB, A journal published in the interests of Saskatche-y the Young Men's Section of the Saskatoon Board of Trade, contains an article by Mr. Roy L. Smith which is recommended as an antidote for the economic recession through which the world is passing. and which appears to have been overlooked nomic experts. He begins by saying we have passed through a panic, suffered from a crash on the stock market, and are now more than half way through the depression—"and I am still rich!" It may be true, he says, that he has much less upon which live than he had a year ago; but he contends it is just as true that he has as much as ever to live for.

"The stock crash cost us," Mr. Smith proceeds, "much that we never had—paper profits which never got nearer our pockets than the financial pages of the daily papers. The market failed, but nothing else did. Prices went down, but not one acre lost its fertility, and all the electrons and ether waves went on working in their accustomed ways." Consequently, when the business slump made itself felt, the writer of the article in question took an inventory of his possessions and found that all his capacity for the ment of life remained intact. Possesse good eyes, he felt that every landscape and every sunset belonged to him; his sense of hearing was unim-paired and by it he became "an heir to a world of beauty and inspiration." Then Mr. Smith reminded himself that no doctor had sentenced him to spinach for the rest of his life, that he was not compelled to take orders daily from his stomach. And so his philosophy proceeds:

The depression has not lowered the value of a single friendship. Neighbors still greet us in the same old cordial way, business associates believe in us, and our sons hold us in high respect. The wife's ne at the close of the day has not depre in the least, and our daughters continue to lavish their affection upon us with the same old ex-

My faith in the goodness of the universe is un-apaired. By that faith I am emboldened as I face defeat and despair. The prayers my mother taught me and the faith in God instilled in me by a devout father remain as priceless treasures no depression

No nation becomes great by becoming rich. ither does a man find enduring satisfaction in Neither does a man lind enduring satisfactory in the body may seem thing. The most degrading poverty is that which results from killing the spirit that the body may be served.

This depression has cost us some of the things we created, but it has robbed us of none of our power to create. We may lose some beautiful things, but we have lost no love of the beautiful.

Mr. Smith argues that the present material condition of the world is not a catastrophe but a challenge; for he thinks the experience of the last six months has assisted men and women to discover the real sustaining power of abiding values, courage, heroism, honor and charity. Hence, a financial debacle may wipe out profits and bring business nearly to a standstill, but character is beyond its reach. Furthermore, "the investments we have made in ambitious youth, hospitals, crippled children's camps, colleges, and service institutions go on paying dividends." It thus is clear above all else that the deepest satisfactions of life—those which come from sharing and serving—remain secure. The downcast should be able to extract some consolation from the riches of which to extract some consolation from the riches of which

WE ARE TOLD IN A CANADIAN The various Dominions have a peculiar interest in the result of to-day's general election in Great Britain is that if the National Government is returned to power. there is every indication that it will seek to put into effect an inter-empire economic agreement widening the British preferences. Rt. Hon. Neville Chamber-lain is quoted as saying that to enter into fresh negotiations and conversations with the Dominions successfully, "we must have the power to put duties on foreign imports in order to give the Dominions the preference, and to receive from the foreign imports in order to give the Dominions the preference, and to receive from them preference for our manufactures."

All this sounds well. As far as Canada is concerned, there would have been a much greater exchange of commodities between Great Britain and this country if the Dunning budget had not been rejected by the Canadian people in the summer of last year. One of the first actions of the new government, moreover, was to increase the duties on a number of commodities Canada had been in the habit of importing from Great Britain. Mr. Benaett took this course, it will be recalled, before he left for the Imperial Conference, so that when he proposed that if Britain would impose a general ten per cent tariff on the foreign goods she was importing. Canada, while still keeping her increased duties against British goods, would merely raise the duties against foreign goods by ten per cent. That is to say, while the duty on a British article would be twenty-seven and a half per cent on an article from the United States. Hence, the concession would be practically worthless.

There is another angle to inter-empire trade which often seems to be overlooked. But it is not overlooked by the British exporter. The argument that Britain will offer substantial concessions, say, to Canada, Australia, and New Zealand, with less than 20,000,000 consumers, and jeopardize her export business with all foreign countries, with their hundreds of millions of consumers, is almost certain to fall flat when it is introduced into the realm of practical politics.

Nor must it be forgotten that Canada now is a keen competitor of Britain in the manufacturing field.

the present government at Ottawa regards industry is clearly reflected in its attitude Canadian industry is clearly reflected in its attitude toward British goods as a result of the depreciation of the pound sterling. How would the Canadian textile industry, for instance, regard lower duties on British woolen goods? The same question can be applied to other lines of industry.

WILL BRITAIN EXPERIMENT?

THE SUGGESTION THAT GREAT Britain under a National Government will experiment with the tariff for purely revenue purposes has produced an avalanche of letters to the Old Country newspapers. Free traders converted to a moderate form of protection have given the proposal a half-hearted blessing. The out-and-out high tariff advocates have taken no pains to obscure their elation. Lloyd-Georgian Liberals have denounced it by every argument at their command. Many prominent economists point to the present condition of the world as largely due to the harmful effect of tariffs, not alone on the world's business, but also on international harmony. All these schools of thought have had their fling in the newspapers in recent weeks. Here is the letter of a sceptic as it appeared in The Spectator:

So we are to have a tariff. "Everybody" says so. It is not to be a tariff such as the benighted per of the world seek after. It is to be a genuine, British tariff, foolproof, knaveproof, immaculate scientific:

"A tariff never seen on land or sea,
An inspiration and a poet's dream."

It is to relieve our distressed Chancellor of the Exchequer by yielding a revenue on imports. It is to save our distressed industries by excluding imports.

It is to emancipate the farmer by raising the price of wheat, while the baker is to be forbidden to raise the price of bread. Our exports are to be stimulated. the price of bread. Our exports are to be stimulated, our imports restricted, and our trade balance restored. It is to unite the British Dominions together in bonds of affection hitherto unknown, and, having scattered blessings o'er a smiling land, it is to be utilized as a weapon to "learn the foreigner" not to set up tariffs against us.

In the words of a Canadian contemporary, however, "they do not understand the protectionist theory in England, and when they do they will not like it."

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

BACK TO THE LAND The Saskatoon Phoenix-Star

A back to the land movement is a natural result of depression. Man can at least make a living there al-though he may not become wealthy, and it is the desire for that security which is the inspiration for the return to agriculture. At the present time throughout Canada thousands of men and their families are turning to the farm as a means of livelihood. Every province has seen the movement under way to a certain extent but it is the movement under way to a certain extent but it is in Quebec that it appears to have reached its peak. In that province the government is helping the unemployed to locate themselves on land and giving them aid to get started. Among other things the government is building houses for them and, according to reports from the Department of Agriculture of the government of that province, between $500,000 and $700,000 will be spent in this way. The result is that a tremendous impetus has been given the lumber industry. The mills are employing more men not only in their manufacturare employing more men not only in their manufactur-ing plants but in the forests as well and in the retail branches of the industry. Thus in one province at least the back to the land movement is producing benefits for many besides those who seek the security of a place where they can maintain themselves.

MR. HOOVER SEEING IT THROUGH The Ottawa Journal

With prosperity still on furlough, Mr. Hoover has come out with a gigantic proposition to put slacker dollars to work, to butress industry by freer and easier credits, to restore public confidence in the eountry's economic condition. His plan, approved by the great New York banking captains, involves the creation of a 5500000 correction by market banking to the condition of the tion of a $500,000,000 corporation by private bankers tion of a $500,000,000 corporation by private bankers to take up the frozen paper of insolvent banks and other institutions, and otherwise give elasticity to the credit situation. In other words, there will be more money available for industry, for agriculture, and for other national needs. Finally, Mr. Hoover is considering an extension of his moratorium upon the payment of international war debts.

While too much need not be expected from this while too much need not be expected from this plan—for the world's economic position is not so simple as to respond readily to any remedy—a large measure of good is bound to flow from it, and Canada, beyond question, will get a portion of the benefit. The history of past depressions has shown that Canada invariably reacts unfavorably to depressed conditions in the United States. Our present position, indeed, is due in no small measure to the collapse which has occurred across the line, this being particularly true of our difficulties in financing.

One of the first fruits of Mr. Hoover's action will be a restoration of confidence. The public, or a large section of it, has a strange faith in the capacity of governments to work wonders.

A THOUGHT

Let us not be desirous of vain glory, provoking one nother, envying one another.—Galatians v 26. Vanity indeed is a venial error; for it usually carries own punishment with it.—Junius.

Loose Ends

How they do it in the States and apologizes to me, my views are again confirmed—and pigs are pronounced good on high authority.

By H. B. W.

THE UNITED STATES is getting ready now for that complicated and somewhat agonizing process known as the presidential primary, by which, after extraordinary labors, a president is finally elected. While I do not favor the United States system of electing an executive absolutely independent of the law-making wings of government, still, there is a lot that we could learn from it. At least it has the advantage that the electors do elect a man as executive with the full knowledge that he is independent of Congress and, within the law, can, do almost anything; whereas over here, at this particular moment, we have an executive apparently just as independent of Parliament without any authority from us for being so.

THE NOT this point which interests are not been considered as the president. The point which in part the content of the president of the content of the cont crecutive apparently just as independent of Parliament without any authority from us for being so.

If Is NOT this point which interests me in the American system of electing a president. The point which interests me is that in the United States in that clums; complicated way inevitable in so large a country, they are trying te get the very best man in the country for their president. Presidential possibilities are not limited to politicians. Mr. Owen Young, suspected of being a Democrat but a man who has served his country under a Republican president, may well be cut in and gave them a little of its history and told them how long it had been used for the purpose and never an accident due to the field itself; but a slight one due to that old roller, which I did not mention to them. After they had further looked around, one of them said to me, "Well, there is only one possible cause that could be, for refusing the permanent license, and that is some of these people living around must have been complaining or kicking." I said, "Well, now, we shall get what is wanted—a man like "lindy's" opinion on it."

Well, I have heard it said once or twice, there was some complaint sent in against the field, but I never saw anything of it myself. There are always some objections to most everything, but in this case it was these students learning and practicing. They were no sooner up than down, all the time. It should have been restricted. The other, plaines coming and going were no nulsance whatever. However, the students have got a field of their own as Gordon Head now; so there should be no difficulty in that way. As "Lindy" says, the field needs to be as close in as possible. It may be some few acres shy of what is actually called for.

DOMINION THEATRE

Those two outstanding Orientals, anna May Wong and Sessue Haya-fiawa, are very much worthwhile at the Dominion Theoret this week, where they are featured with Warner Oland, the original Fu Manchu, in a new spisode of the fascinating Sax Rohmer series, filmed by Paramount as "Daughter of the Dragon."

For those who like romance seasoned with pussles, thrills and action evolved from lurking mystery, this production talks right out, and says big things to any movie audience.

Miss Wong is an oriental actress of obvious personable points, who surrenders to her dying father's wish, and drops a glamorous point of vantage in London's theatrical firma-ment to project a programme of ven-geance. With all his fiendish appli-cation of chemistry and psychology, Fu Manchu was not a more resolute menace than the pretty daughter proves to be. A motion picture set furnished with Oriental "props" valued at $100,000 was used at University City for a number of scenes for "East of Borneo," the Far Eastern drams which comes to the Capital Theatre on Thursday with Rose Hobart and Charles Bickford in the leading roles.

The setting of the story is in the East Indies, and the exterior scenes were actually photographed in Jave. Sumatra and the Malay Straits. "Interiors" were filmed at the studio, and this particular setting, representing the interior of an old palace, found the studio property men gathering many rare old Oriental pieces.

Thep rize of the collection was a bronze Buddha standing nine feet in height, and valued at $25,000. Other smaller statues and statuettes were scattered about the set, and Lai Chand Mehra, noted East Indian technical advisor, declared that the "White Buddha," a small marble statue used in the picture, was one of the finest pieces he had ever seen.

In addition to the statuary there was a great array of reel Orientaf furniture, the most valuable piece being a long ebony bench iniaid with mother-of-pearl. Bugs and draperles which were used also represented a small fortune, and sterling silver was used for table services.

New Way So Many WomenAre Asking About

WomenAre Asking About

A WAY has been found that experts say probably comes closer to solving the arm and leg hair problem for women than anything known before.

It resembles a beauty clay in appearance. You simply spread it on the surface where the hair is to be removed, let it remain a few moments and then rinse off with water. That is all. Every sign of hair is gone completely. Quite different from the ragor and old ways. No coarsened regrowth; no stubble.

You can obtain it now at any tollet goods counter for a few cents. The name is NEET—Cream Hair Remover. Women are flocking to its use.

Veterans of the First Canadian Digners Battalion will establish a permanent organization on Saturday. November 14, when a smoker reunion will be held. Decision to form a permanent association was made yesterday evening by a meeting at the clubrooms of Pro Patria branch of the Canadian Legion, which was attended by about twenty members of the battalion, the gathering being the first held since demobilization. W. C. Winkel was in the chair and Albert Heald acted as secretary.

It was stated that there are now about 125 ex.members of the First Pioneers resident in Greater Victoria and the opinion was expressed that a useful and active organization could be formed.

useful and active organization could be formed,
The First Canadian Pioneers was the first unit of the type organized in western Canada for service in France and was commanded by Col. A. E. Hodgins. From the time of the arrival of the battalion in France until the Armistice it was associated with the first division and participated in the major operations of that unit of the Canadian corps.

The meeting yesterday evening passed a vote of condolence with the family of the late Major Peter Campbell of Esquimalt, who was a former member of the unit.

OPEN WEATHER ON PRAIRIES AIDS BULK APPLE SALE

Demand for Okanagan apples sold in bulk is good this season, according to the report from the Vernon growers to the Department of Agriculture here. The consumption of apples on the prairies is being increased by the cheapness of the product.

In Edmonton alone, the department reports, 100 cars of bulk apples have been repacked and sold.

reports, 100 cars of bulk apples have been repacked and sold. The volume of Delicious apples moved in bulk is negligible. Varieties chiefly going to make up the bulk shipments include McIntosh, Wagner, Jonathan and Kings.

The open weather has greatly enhanced the bulk movement on the prairies. Twenty cars of produce have arrived in Winnipeg from British Columbia. They consist of eleven cars of boxed apples, eight of bulk apples and one of mixed fruit. Ontario bulk apples are selling at 2½ cents a pound in Winnipeg, with B.C. bulk McIntosh and Jonathans selling at 2½ cents a pound.

Several Roads Need Improvement OUR BOARDING HOUSE

Improvement of several streets not included in the city unemployment relief programme is suggested by the directors of the local branch of the Automobile Club to the City Council. The club draws attention to the deplorable condition of Cook Street, scuth of Fort, and Oak Bay Avenue is described as disgraceful in parts. Development of Pandora Avenue, it is stated, would divert considerable traffic from the Dardanelles.

Work on these thoroughfares could be done instead of boulevarding streets on which there are few residents, it is suggested.

Port Alberni

Port Alberni, Oct. 27—Ed Lee re-urned to Uclulet on the Ss. Princess faquinns on Friday after a visit to ietoria. Accompanying him was his ster-in-law, Mrs. Madden, who is bing to stay with Mr. and Mrs. Lee.

Miss Cassidy came in from Cape Beale on the Maquinna and will be staying here for a week or so. Frank Brain made a figing trip into town from Banfield. Andy Mitchell, Harry Todd and Rob smith are at Anderson Lake Hatchery, and will be there for some weeks. Mrs. M. Nichola left for her home in Iccole after visiting in the Port for a reck.

New York, Oct. 27.—The New York Post publishes the following special dispatch from Washington:

"Foreign capital Issues are being more closely scrutinized by United States shawers this year than ever before, according to official comment to-day on statistics showing that public offerings of such securities were lower in the first nine months and in the third quarter of 1931 than at any time since the Great War.

"A Department of Commerce compilation showed that only $25,002,000 of strictly foreign securities, all of which came from Canada, were sold here in July. August and September. This made the total for the first nine months of the year $295,943,500.

"The situation obviously reflects in part the uncertainty that prevails, but the fact that sound Canadian securities have been absorbed shows that safe stuff will be bought by the holders of investment funds here. The hankers know that investors are careful and they are looking over the offerings accordingly."

Undulant Fever More Prevalent Than Has Been Supposed

Patient Must Have Complete Rest in Bed and Medication for Symptoms.

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Previous to 1927, undulant fever in man was regarded in the United States much as one would have regarded other disease curiosities. During 1929, cases of the disease were recorded in every state. Unquestionably this signifies a far greater number of cases than were actually recorded, because confirmation of the presence of this disease depends on an examination of the blood that can be made only by a competent laboratory.

Thus, Walter Simpson announces Previous to 1927, undusting twee in the man was regarded to the disease of the disease very recorded in the control of the con

We have in China and Japan a body of men whose life-work has been diplomatic service to their respective nations. May I suggest that instead of the League of Nations trying to harmonize all the intrigue of these Asiatic minds in bringing pressure on what may prove to be impossible policy, a neutral board of administration drawn from the diplomatic service of all nations in China be set up in Manchuria, and that a police force under their control be ready to take over the defence of the country when the Japanese forces retire.

In dealing with Asiatic peoples, the blunt policy of declaring one party to be in the wrong should be studiously avoided and in the final settlement the save-face attitude should be carefully extended to both parties to ensure harmonious peace.

Checkered Career in Baseball World

Only Ball Player to Rise From Ranks to Ownership of Major Club

Suspension of $1,000,000 Worth of Players Highlight in His Career

Pepper Martin May Join Babe Ruth Class Before Many

PROM a plumber's apprentice to one of the wealthiest and most famous men in the baseball world best describes the career of Charles Albert Comiskey, owner of the Chicago White Sox. American League baseball tears, who died yesterday at an advanced age. Universally known as the "Old Roman," he was the only ballplayer who rose from the ranks to sole ownership of a major league club, including both players and grounds. After having built up the White Sox, from the beginning of the American League, into an organization known the world over, Comiskey caused a sensation when, in 1920, he wrecked his machine on finding that the 1919 world series had been "thrown" to the Cincinnati Club.

At that time he suspended seven of his star players, "Happy" Felsch, Joe Jackson, Eddle Cleotte, "Lefty" Williams, "Swede" Risberg, Fred McMullen and "Buck" Weaver, whose aggregate contracts were varied at more than $1,000,000. This huge sum was lost when Comiskey, together with other highlights in organized baseball, including Kenesaw, M. Landis, baseball commissioner, decided that the suspended men, despite a verdict of "not guilty" returned by a Cook county jury, were to remain on the ineligible list.

cook county jury, were to remain on the ineligible list.

In an effort to reconstruct his shattered team scouts were sent to all parts of the country to gather promising minor league players. From the Sait Lake City club the "Old Roman" acquired the entire infield with the exception of the second baseman. These men, Ernie Johnson, Eddie Mulligan and Earl Sheely, fitted in well with Eddie Collins, who had remained loyal to-Comiskey. In 1922 Willie Kamm, a third baseman, was obtained from a San Francisco club for $100,000. the highest price ever paid for a minor league player up to that time.

In 1876 Comiskey, at the age of seventeen, joined the Milwauke base-ball club as a third baseman. His salary was $50 a month. From Milwauke he went to Eigin, Ill., as pitcher, remaining one year and winning every game. In 1879 he joined Dubuque, of the Northwestern League, where he played for four years. In 1881 he again changed locations, Joining the St. Louis Browns of the American Association, and in 1883 was nadamanger. In the winter of 1913-14, Comiskey and John McGraw of the New York Giarts financed a round-the-world tour with a large number of ball players divided into two teams. The teams played in Australia and Japan, where the game had taken a hold on the populace. In London, King George was an interested spectator. In Egypt the teams played before the Sphinx.

Judge Landis told Pepper Martin he would like nothing better than to trade places with him. And Pepper said he places with him. And Pepper said he would be happy to trade his $4,500 a year for the commissioner's $50,000—in fact it is $65. But perhaps Pepper will not be in any need of trading it the judge takes him up and offers to tacknange jobs. Babe Ruth has been puiling down $80,000. A sprightly youngster like Pepper, with a suddenly developed reputation that has given him more newspaper space during one week than any other ballplayer ever had, may be in the Babe Ruth class himself before long, and he can have all the fun of going on playing base-ball.

He worked out yesterday and showed that he is in fine physical condition. The tall slim negro with the legs, hips and waist of a flyweight, but the shoulders and arm muscularity of a lightweight, went through a rigorous series of exercises.

Three well-known Victoria amateur bieyele riders, Pete Tyson,

Stewart and Lew Rush left for Seat-tle yesterday to interview the pro-moters and are expected back to-day or to-morrow with the definite rules and regulations governing the event. The riders will compete in teams of three, and it is quite possible that Rush may also make the trip, although Tyson, Robbins and Stewart have de-cided to enter the event. ON INDOOR TRACK cided to enter the event.

ON INDOOR TRACK

The race will be staged on an indoor track with thirteen laps to the mile. It will be conducted in the form of a 114-day elimination with a six-day race to balance out the 120-day programme. The race is being conducted under amateur rules, along the same lines as a six-day grind.

Scoring will be on a point system for the entire length of the race, and the team with the greatest number of points will be declared the winner. Just in what shifts the riders will work is not known, but with three men to a team it is expected the event will be continuous riding.

Vancouyer will also have a team entered in the competition.

With Tyson, Robbins, Stewart and Rush as eligibles Victoria will be represented by four of the finest riders in the Pacific Northwest. All are strong young hushies and have taken an active part in bicycle riding in British Columbia for the last three or four years. They hold many-cups and trophies, and have taken part in many long distance races. Rush and Robbins besides being long distance riders are first-class sprinters. The former has been specializing in the long rides in recent months, and was the winner of the Pacific Coast championship for a ride between Scattle and Vancouver. ARE YOUNGSTERS

All four are youngsters, but they are all in first class condition and quite able to stand the strain necessary for a contest of this nature.

Tokio, Oct. 27.—A new world record for the running broad jump of twenty-six feet, two and one-eighth inches was established to-day by Chuhel Nambu, native Japanese jumper, in the national athletic meet, and a new universal standard of fifty-one feet, one and one-quarter inches for the running hop, step and jump was set by Mikio Oda, the 1928 Olympic champion.

Nambu's new mark displaces by two inches the world mark by S. Cator. Hawall, set in Parls in 1928 after the Olympics of that year. Oda broke the record of fifty feet, eleven and three-quarter inches set by A. W. Winter, an Australian, at Parls in 1924.

Scottish and Fifth Battle For Third Place in Intermediate Loop

Unless the James Bay Athletic Association and Oak Bay Wannature, no change will be seen in the Intermediate Rugby League following the games next Saturday afternoon. To alter the standing Victoria College and Brentwood College must be beaten. As a result of the other game of the day, either the Fifth Regiment or Canadian Scottish will move into third place, except in the event of a tie, when both will share that berth. Victoria College have taken two games out of two starts, and although they have only been able to gain the decision by three points in each case, they have not yet had their line crossed JBAA. on the other hand, were only able to draw with the Scottish, the first victim of Victoria College. Those of us who are continually driving our balls into the turf of the tee instead of picking them clean from their little wooden eminences will often find the cause in our failure to shift our weight to the right leg at the top of the swing.

Earlier in this series of articles about the play of the ranking ama/eur champion, Ouimet, I brought out the point that at the top of the swing his weight was on his right heel.

When it does not shift over to this point and remains on the left foot instead, one of the causes of hitting down on the ball is arrived at, as the

Heyd-ler, president of the National League. William Harridge, president of the American League, said the league owed Comiskey a debt of everlasting grati-tude, adding "he fought shoulder to shoulder with Ban Johnson for clean baseball."

Just what will happen to the vast baseball property which Comiskey left behind, remained uncertain to-day. The Comiskey Park, home of the White Sox, with a senting capacity of 52,000, is one of the monuments to the sport he left. The park, together with the franchise and club, has been variously estimated to be worth from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000.

to be worth from $3,000,000 to $40,000,000.
His son, forty-six years old, has been connected with the club for the last twenty years in various capacities. The business management, however, has been in the hands of Harry Grabiner, who holds the title of secretary, but who has been in active charge for the last five or six years. Grabiner, who grew up with the club from a job as office boy for Comiskey, always consulted the "Big Boss" before making any business moves.

It was shortly after the world's series scandal in 1919 when the White Sox threw the world's championship to the Cincinnati Reds to satisfy bribing gamblers, that Comiskey, shattered in spirit and health, began to fade from baseball, leaving Grabiner in charge. He spent most of his time at his summer retreat in Wisconsin. His wife died in 1922 after an illness of months.

FOUR LEADERS DIE By a strange fate, death robbed the American League of four of its greatest leaders this year. Ernest Sargent Barnard, successor to Ban Johnson as president of the league, died suddenly at Rochester, Minn., March 27. The next day the fiery Johnson, who with Comiskey organized the league, died in St. Louis. Jimny McAleer, one of the early stars of the American League, and former manager of the St. Louis and Washington clubs, passed on at

Canadian Press

Calgary, Alta., Oct. 27.-Ice and operating costs were the stumbling blocks which stood to-day in the blocks which stood to-may in the way of Calgary's entry into profes-sional hockey this winter. Frank Patrick, president of the Pacific Coast Hockey League, awaited the verdict of Calgary hockey promo-ters who were debating the feasibility of installing an artificial ice plant in the local arena and plant in the local arena and whether their finances were sufficient to launch the foothill city cient to launch the foothill city into a league with Edmonton, Vancouver, Tacoma and Portland.

Patrick to-day was still hopeful that the Calgarians would find some means of accepting his invitation to enter a pro aggregation in his organization. He suggested to Rosie Helmer and George Steward, operators of the local arena and the men who would support any team if entered, a cold air piping plan that would assure ice for all games and overcome the chinook breezes that upset hockey schedules here every season. Now that Duke Keats of Edmonton has promised a team from the northern city, Caigary would eventually organize a team, Patrick hopes. "Having a team play two games at each point during one trip would overcome the expense problem," Patrick believed. Nothing, however. will be known until late this afternoon or tonight. There is no information now as the local promoters are still discussing the question.

Dick Irvin Will Act As Pilot Of

Regina, Sask., Oct. 27.—It was announced at a meeting here yesterday evening of the Victoria Senior Amateur Hockey Club that Dick Irvin. coach of the Chicago Black Hawks in the National League last winter would handle the team during the coming season. Irvin succeeds a former team mate on the old Regins Capitals. "Puss" Traub, who piloted the Vics to the senior championship of the province last winter. Traub is now in Windsor, Ontario, and is billed to referee in the American League during the coming winter.

Since being let out by the Hawks. Irvin has been interested in the purchase of a Pacific Coast League team along with Wes Champ, but negotiations fell through early last week and the former Hawk mentor is likely to spend the winter in Regina.

New York, Oct. 27.—If he is really serious about that comeback attempt, Jack Dempsey can have 40 per cent of the gate receipts of a match in Miami, Fia., next February against either Vittorio Compolo or Primo Carnera. James J. Johnston, Madison Square Garden promoter, said he had been informed that the old Manassa Mauler was prepared to come east to discuss the proposition if necessary. Dempsey, preparing for a comeback with an extensive barnstorming tour of the Far West, is now on a hunting trip in Nevada.

Moderate Dealings On London Exchange

Canadian Press

London, Oct. 27—A thick fog which hung over London delayed arrival of many members of the Stock Exchange to-day and dealings during the forenoon were moderate pending outcome of the election. British securities maintained their levels and a general spirit of optimism was indicated by dealings in election majorities which predicted majorities of from 197 to 203 in favor of the National Government. Foreign exchanges were easier. The dollar was quoted at 3.91; Paris at 99.31, and Amsterdam at 9.66½.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—Which in your opinion is more apt to make a faithful and domestic husband, the young man who has had a wild youth, who has been to all sorts of places with all sorts of people and has come out of it all to be a steady, intelligent young man, it the young man who has never been anywhere, who has not even attended dances or card parties and who is perfectly satisfied with a movie.

IN DOUBT.

Answer—The French have a roverb that says that the reormed roue makes the best unshand, meaning thereby that he man who has had his fling fore marriage and has tired of tall, is ready to settle down to be domestic life.

Indisputably there is a grain of truth in this. If a man is going to sow his wild oats, it is certainly much better for him to do so before he is married than afterward, but the trouble with the wild oats crop is that it so often bears a perennial harvest that keeps ripening year after year as long as he lives, and his poor wife and children are compelled to assist in reaping. Sickness, disease, death, imbecility, malformations, are some of the noxious weeds that spring up among the wild oats, and no woman wants to glean any of these.

And

If a man could pay the price of his wild parties himself and when the score was settled wipe off the slate, then he would make an ideal husband, for undoubtedly nothing kills our appetites so completely for forbidden fruit as to have had our fill of it and be satiated with it. No man is so abstemions as the one who has burned his stomach out with synthetic ful. No man is so immune to the coquetries of women as the one who has every art and wile of the vamp. No man sticks as close to his own fireside as the one who has run around until the very sight and sound of a night-club bores him to tears.

But there are two objections to marrying such a man. One is that he is very apt to be damaged goods and his wife is more than likely to spend her life nursing a neurotic invalid and trying to repair the harm that bootleg whisky has done to his digestion and his liver and his kidneys. And always in her consciousness is the black shadow of the evil women he has known and on the other hand, it is equally true that the man who has missed the pleasures of youth is mighty apt to take them later on when they are far more dangerous and disastrous in their effect, for it seems to be the law of life that we must all have our playtime, sooner or later. It has been my observation that most of the men who run amuck when they are middleaged and who forsake their faithful old wives for girls young enough to be their daughters and let gold-digging blondes make fools of them are almost invariably men who married very young, when they were mere boys and who never had time or money to amuse themselves until they were middle-aged.

And in the second place, the man who does not marry until he is tired of galety and stepping out, makes a dull and uncompanionable husband who is never willing to do anything for his wife's amusement. He is blase. He has seen the whole show and has wearied of the spectacle, and he expects his wife to take his word for it that it is not worth seeing, and

He does not care that she is young and that it is all new and glittering and glamorous to her eyes. It bores him to even think of dressing up and going to a dance and he is not going to go, no matter how she longs to put on her pretty frock and tread a measure out where there are bright lights and galety and laughter. His idea of a pleasant evening is to sit at home and read a book and he sees to it that she sits with him and is not exposed to the dangers of the world whose every thrilling adventure he has passed through.

If you will dig into the histories of these men you will nearly always find that at the time when other youngsters of their own age were going to parties and dancing their feet off and flirting around with girls and having a good time that they had already burdened themselves with a family or were working their heads off to get ahead in whatever line of business they had chosen and that they had neither leisure nor money for any sort of pleasure.

For years and years it was all work and no play, and they were so absorbed in the struggle for success that they never thought of amusing themselves, then, suddenly, they found themselves with plenty of money and where they could take things easily, and the play instinct that had been suppressed so long, asserted itself, and they went mad and lost all sense of proportion and went the limit. And the folly of a middle-aged man is far more costly than that of a boy.

So, in choosing a husband pick out one who has been neither too gay nor soo sober. One who knows something of life, but not one who has sucked his DROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX—Does every woman before she marries feel doubtful and fear the future? I had always thought when my fairy prince came along I would rush madly into his arms, but although I love the young man I am engaged to, and he is fine in every way and we are congenial, still I sometimes wonder if I should marry him. There is no doubt that I love him, but so many marriages end in divorce and broken hearts that I cannot keep from being apprehensive. Cinders-

Answer—That is natural. Probably every bride and groom stumbled to the ultar on frozen feet and would back out at the last moment if they could. It is the instinct of self-preservation that makes us hesitate at taking any fatal step that changes our whole lives.

Only the foolhardy rush blindly into marriage. It gives the intelligent pause for well they know the dangers and the difficulties they are about to encounter and how uncertain are the chances that they are to meet.

But you have to take risks in everything, my dear—bife offers us no sure things. No certainties. If you go into any business, you run the risk of failure. Any friend may fail you. Any circumstance may have more of misery than of good in it.

And because others have failed in marriage is no indication that you will Because other men have turned out to be bad husbands is no indication that the man you marry will. Because other weddings end in divorce is no indication that you will hang the "To Let" sign on your house of happiness.'

Quebec. Oct. 27—The first vessel to dock at Quebec from South Africa for many years arrived here yesterday, with a cargo of 7,349 tons of maize on board.

It was the motorship Cape of Good Hope, owned by the Cape of Good Hope Motorship Company Limited, which sailed from Durban on September 15.

It was thought that the vessel would proceed to Montreal to unload her cargo, but her agents have decided that she shall discharge here, and then proceed to Hampton Roads to take on a coal cargo.

Five Chinese are among the crew of the ship, and her agents were obliged to deposit a bond of $1,000 for each of them while the ship is in port, this being in conformity with rules and regulations of Canada.

A stop was made at Dakar, French West Africa, for the purpose of taking on maize, it was reported on the vessel's arrival here.

New York, Oct. 27—A queen of the sea waited five and a half hours to-day while the daughter of the Premier of France danced with a mayor at a birthday party. The French liner lie de France was to have sailed at five minutes past midnight with Premier Laval and his daughter, Josette, aboard. At the hour, however, the orchestra in a fashionable night club was playing "Cupid on the Birthday Cake," and Mademoiselle Laval was dancing with Mayor James J. Walker. Monsieur Laval, was watching with an expansive smile, and a group of socially important persons beamed their approval.

The liner waited. Finally, at 1.15 a.m., when Mayor Walker's car rolled up with Josette, the premier close behind, the captain decided to postpone sailing until the more advantageous tide rolled out at 5.30 a.m.

The premier departed feeling France and the United Statessince his conversations with President Hoover—understand cach other better and know what to expect.
